MISSION: The Melbourne Writing Center of Eastern Florida State College provides one-on-one consultations and small-group workshops to advise and assist the EFSC community of writers within any discipline and throughout any stage of the writing process by way of a supportive, comfortable environment to create independent writers with strong essential skills.
Gary Rhine earned his A.A. degree with an emphasis in Journalism and Communications from BCC, now EFSC. As editor of the student newspaper, The Capsule, Gary received multiple awards for excellence. He earned a B.S. degree in Telecommunication Production from UF. He worked for both the University’s television station, WUFT, and the local cable television provider. He worked for many years in television production, multi-media presentation technology, and as a Senior Instructional Assistant for the Communications department at Valencia College. All in all, Gary prefers working with students on improving their writing.

James A. Drake, a professional writer as well as a higher-education administrator and former professor, is the author of seven books and more than 50 articles in publications ranging from Time magazine to scholarly journals in his academic fields (philosophy, educational theory, music, and American popular culture). Two of his books were named "Books of the Month" by the National Book Clubs of America. He is President Emeritus of Brevard Community College and has held administrative positions at the University of Central Florida, Clemson University, and Ithaca College, among others. A native of Columbus, Ohio and a doctoral graduate of The Ohio State University, Dr. Drake enjoys giving presentations on writing, publishing, interviewing well-known artists and public officials, and college and university administration.
The Melbourne Writing Center has two Peer tutors this semester, who are ready to help students with their writing. Victor Vigliotti has joined us, and Morgan Evans has returned for her 4th semester of service. Here’s what Morgan has to say about the program:

What does a Core Scholar Peer Tutor do?
A CORE Scholar peer tutor, or CPST, tutors fellow students on subjects they are proficient with. Sometimes students feel more comfortable with a fellow student peer tutor, and we are here to assist with that.

What subjects do the tutors cover?
I cover ENC 1101 and ENC 1102 competencies, which mainly focus on formatting, outlining, and grammar skills. There are other tutors on campus that tutor math, biology, and microcomputer applications.

Why did you get involved in the Core Scholar program?
I got involved in the Core Scholar program because of the awesome opportunity to help and support my fellow students.

What has been your favorite thing about being a tutor?
My favorite thing about serving as a peer tutor is being able to pass on valuable information/help about classes I have taken and excelled in.
